

Nix Interpretive Center at Laguna Coast Wilderness Park Laguna Beach, California

A Full View—Nature through the Eyes of Artist, Historian, and Scientist

Following the success of the initial project, The Acorn Group developed the interpretive master plan and designed all the exhibits for the Nix Interpretive Center. The center is located in the Laguna Coast Wilderness Park, 6,600 acres of rare coastal sage scrub adjoining an additional 10,000 protected acres in the heart of coastal Orange County. The exhibits interpret the landscape through four “portals of discovery,” with each portal blending cultural, scientific, and artistic perspectives of the land. The Center opened in 2006.
